

Fresh Face: Re:Size Right

LISA AND GERRY BRENEMAN are a dynamic husband-and-wife team who are bringing personal assistance for living transitions to the local community.

With a mission to help others go forward gracefully, they are a one-stop shop for services including moving, home organization, home renovation and repair, liquidating an estate, and more.

Re:Size Right is a second career for both Lisa and Gerry, who worked until retirement in real estate and construction management respectively.

Drawing on the expertise they curated from their previous work, as well as their own personal experiences moving across states and square footages, the Brenemans are poised and passionate about guiding you to your right place, right time, and right size.

“Re:Size Right is about looking at life and understanding that changes are going to be required. Then helping people work towards those changes on their own terms,” Lisa said.

The key to reducing stress in these transitional times is their unified approach—coordinating and partnering with the best tradespeople and professionals they’ve hand-selected for their honesty and good work.

“I have a lot of confidence in Lancaster County companies, and everyone we work with holds the same values we do—which is to serve our clients with integrity,” Gerry said.

Lisa and Gerry know their approach won’t be one size fits all—and they believe in getting to the heart of your needs and your timing first.

“We intentionally chose the name ‘Re:Size’ because living transitions aren’t just about downsizing—it’s about finding what means most to you and simplifying so those things remain at the core,” Lisa shared.

Another part of their business is educating people on the need to plan for the future. They also note the benefit of working with someone who is objective as you begin to make these plans.

“Lisa and I come as independent eyes and ears to help people who might otherwise feel stuck or overwhelmed,” Gerry explained. “Sometimes people can’t agree or it seems easier to not do anything, but we know it’s always easier to make these decisions before you are forced to.”

Ready to talk about your next steps? It all starts with a free in-home consultation.